

MIKE TURNER

MAGNOLIA— Mike Turner, Hope senior at Southern State College, received the Wall Street Journal Award at the annual Tri-C Business and Commerce Division Awards Banquet at the college Thursday, April 16. Turner, an accounting major at SSC, was unable to attend the banquet because of illness. Receiving the award for him was his roommate, Don McAdams, also from Hope.

The award is presented to the student with the most outstanding scholarship and leadership in the Division of Business and Commerce, and consists of a sterling silver medal and a year's subscription to the Wall Street Journal. Made annually by the Dow Jones Publishing Company in cooperation with the business division of SSC, it is the highest attainable by Southern State students in this division.

Approximately 200 Tri-C members and guests were present at the event and heard Union County Representative Worth Camp Jr. appeal to Arkansas voters for support of the new state constitution. Other highlights of the evening included the announcement of Mr. and Miss Executive of 1970, Martha Tollett of Nashville, and Fran Perdue of Camden. Two other Hempstead County students received awards. They are Clarence Barron, senior business education major, who was presented with the National Business Education Association Award, which is awarded to the top student in business education; and Greg Martin, of Rt. 2 Hope and a senior business management major, received the award for the outstanding student in management.

Jewelry of Queen Brings $510,000

GENEVA (AP)— A pair of diamond pendant earrings reportedly owned by former Queen Soroya of Iran has brought $510,000 from an anonymous buyer at a jewelry auction.

The auctioneering firm identified the earrings as "the property of a former queen," but declined to confirm that they were a present from the Shah to Soroya before he divorced her.

Total proceeds of the auction Thursday, in which 389 pieces of jewelry changed hands, were $3.25 million, described by the auctioneers as a record for a single sale.

A match-point player might be forgiven for going down at six no-trump. He looks over dummy and notes that his partner's raise to six no-trump is very normal. After all, North has 18 high-card points. South also notes that his own 17-point hand is a very proper no-trump opening and that everyone in the field will be in that same no-trump contract.

Then he counts his sure tricks and arrives at 11. There will be a 12th trick if either diamonds or clubs breaks evenly and 13 tricks if both suits behave as friends of the declarer should. So match-point South runs off his top cards as fast as he can and winds up losing the last two tricks to East.

A rubber bridge player might well make the same play but he would be playing bad bridge. He should be interested in scoring 1,440 points for a six no-trump bid and made with both sides vulnerable and shouldn't try for the extra 30 points for the overtrick.

With all this in mind, South would proceed to give away a trick very early in the play by leading a low spade. This is called a submarine squeeze or rectifying the count and is designed to ensure his contract with both minor suits breaking badly, provided the same opponent is long in both of them.

Once that low spade is conceded, South cashes the high spades and hearts and East has to discard a club or diamond on the last one played. This sets up a 12th trick for South and he makes the slam.

Auto Union Out After Mr. Agnew

By NEIL GILBRIDE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)

The United Auto Workers union has accused Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell today of staging a campaign of repression against Americans who espouse unpopular causes.

"The UAW takes its stand firmly against the arbitrary treatment of the unpopular by government and insists that official power must operate with respect for individual freedom," the 1.6 million member union said in a convention resolution adopted Thursday.

"Agnew tries to heighten our differences, split the country and make it unpopular to dissent," said Steve Schlossberg, UAW general counsel.

"He is also selective. When a mob turns over a school bus in the South he says it was angry parents. But when kids demonstrate for peace, they're 'impudent snobs,'" Schlossberg said in an interview.

The union resolution, written by Schlossberg, urged repeal of the recently enacted "no-knock" law, allowing federal agents to enter premises without warning where use of drugs is suspected. It also urged Congress to defeat Mitchell's District of Columbia crime bill proposal that would permit preventive detention of persons awaiting trial on criminal charges.

The resolution said the proposal, which the Justice Department has urged as a model for the nation, would reverse the long American legal tradition of a trial first and imprisonment afterward if convicted.

"We are in unrelenting opposition to the campaign of repression now being waged by Attorney General Mitchell, Vice President Agnew and others in the national administration," the resolution declared.

The UAW also urged legal protection of newsmen against having their notes or recordings subpoenaed by the Justice Department, and strict bans on wire tapping and illegal searches and seizures.

The convention overwhelmingly re-elected 62-year-old

President Walter P. Reuther to his 13th straight two-year term in the first contested election for the union presidency in 21 years.

Reuther defeated Art Fox, 49, of the union's big Dearborn, Mich., Ford Local by 13,609 votes to 220.

Truck Drivers Still Strike Some Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wildcat strikes by truck drivers continued across the nation, and in Los Angeles, 5,000 other school employees planned to join striking teachers on picket lines today.

Service Employees Local 99, AFL-CIO, said it would strike to protest planned job and budget cutbacks in Los Angeles schools. The union represents cooks, janitors, bus drivers and some other nonteaching personnel.

About half of the city's 25,000 teachers have struck to demand smaller classes and higher pay. During the strike, now in its second week, nearly half the system's students have not attended school.

Ed Bratrud, secretary-treasurer of the service employees local, said, "We think that by early next week the entire school system will be closed down."

The school system is the nation's second largest. The striking drivers are trying to force a repudiation by the Teamsters Union of a tentative national contract which promises pay increases of $1.10 an hour over three years. The truckers, who currently average $4 an hour, have centered their scattered strikes in the Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and Los Angeles areas.

Amid reports the wildcat strikes were undermining the national agreement, Frank E. Fitzsimmons, acting head of the Teamsters was said to be organizing a meeting of trucker officials from the 350 locals for early next week.

A union spokesman in Chicago said local delegates to the meeting will ask Fitzsimmons to repudiate the settlement.

Soldiers Let Hostages Go in Trinidad

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)— Mutinous soldiers Thursday released six hostages—a high-ranking officer and five women—from Trinidad's main military base where they are holed up in support of Black Power demands.

Col. Joffre Serrette, a former commander of Trinidad's 720-man army, obtained the releases in negotiations with the rebels at the Teton Bay base, site of Trinidad's only armory.

Serrette also persuaded the mutineers to transfer army officers they were holding hostage from detention cells to house arrest in their quarters on the base.

The mutiny erupted Tuesday after Prime Minister Eric Williams declared a state of emergency in an attempt to check increasingly violent demonstrations by Black Power advocates and unemployed youths and workers. The mutineers claim they have a majority of the army on their side, but their actual numbers are not clear.

The mutineers were reported asking for amnesty for more than a score of Black Power leaders arrested under the state of emergency.

Loyal troops have ringed the base, sealing it off. But the rebels' possession of the armory, and with it the government's chief stock of weapons, put the government in a tight spot.

The United States flew down one plane load of small arms Wednesday night but a spokesman for the State Department said there were no plans for further deliveries.

The government of Venezuela, which is 16 miles away, sent a small two-engine plane to the island Thursday morning with a consignment of weapons.

Strict enforcement of the emergency powers act—including a dusk-to-dawn curfew and preventive arrest provisions—has kept violence to a minimum since Tuesday's riot by 1,000 rock-throwing Black Power demonstrators. Three persons were killed Tuesday, but no fatalities have been reported since.

Six U.S. Navy ships were patrolling about 50 miles off the north coast of Trinidad, ready to evacuate an estimated 3,000 Americans on the island should serious violence erupt. The British Navy's two frigates stationed in the Caribbean were also not far off if needed to protect English residents.

Recent disturbances grew out of a student protest of the trial of West Indian students on riot charges in Montreal. The demonstrations were whipped up this week by Black Power militants demanding black control of the economy, and they were joined by unemployed youths, workers and civil servants dissatisfied with their lot.

Coolidge Coined It

Calvin Coolidge gained national political prominence in September, 1919, when he coined the phrase, "There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, any time." The statement was made at the beginning of the Boston police strike.

Eclipse Failed to Produce Epidemic

By BRIAN SULLIVAN

AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— The major eclipse of the sun last March 7 failed to produce the epidemic of eye damage the experts had feared, according to a survey by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

But the survey turned up a relatively and unexplained, number of cases in California, where the eclipse was only partially visible. Most states had two to four cases but California had 18.

The nationwide survey of eye specialists and hospital emergency rooms found 95 cases of eye damage from looking at the sun, not all permanent. This compares to the 247 cases found after a 1963 eclipse in a far less comprehensive survey.

A spokesman for the society said the relatively low number of cases this time appeared to be the result of widespread publication of warnings of the dangers.

Here is the breakdown of eye damage cases reported: Arizona 4; California 18; Colorado 3; Florida 4; Illinois 4; Indiana 5; Iowa 3; Kentucky 3; Maine 1; Nevada 2; New Hampshire 1; New Jersey 3; New Mexico 1; Connecticut 4; New York 4; North Dakota 1; Ohio 1; Rhode Island 6; Texas 2; Utah 3; Virginia 3; Wisconsin 5; Puerto Rico 2.

SOUND FOOTING

If you want a Firm Foundation, —
Sound Footing for a lifelong walk... here it is. The Foundation this man stands on can serve as compass to guide you: — a blueprint for better living. It is filled with do's and don'ts that groom one for Heavenly company.
The Psalmist prayed, "Establish my footsteps in Thy word, and let not any iniquity have dominion over me." This man's foundation points the way to Go. Actually, it is the Book of Life... is your name written there?
*It offers peace of mind and comfort of soul to those who take it seriously. Attend church regularly and read of the things it offers one to hold to when one is no longer able to hold the Book...
it offers Sound Footing.*

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

ANOTHER POWN (cq) BY "AUTHOR UNKNOWN"
Dear Helen: Great minds—or something.
On the day I read your column about the Slang of the Sixties, I found the following in the Syracuse Post-Standard—MAY-BELLE REMEMBER?
Remember when hippie meant big in the hips,
And trip involved travel in cars, planes and ships?
When pot was a vessel for cooking things in,
And hooked was what grandmother's rug may have been?
When fix was a verb that meant mend or repair,
And to "be in" simply meant being somewhere?
When neat meant well-organized, tidy and clean,
And Grass was a ground cover, normally green?
When the lights and not people were switched on and off,
And The Pill might have been what you took for a cough?
When groovy meant furrowed with channels and hollows,
And birds were winged creatures like robins and swallows?
When fuzz was a substance fluffy like lint,
And bread came from bakeries, not from the mint?
When a roll was a bun and rock was a stone,
And hang-up was something you did with the phone?
When chicken meant poultry, and bag meant a sack,
And junk, trashy cast-offs and old bric-a-brac?
When a cat was a feline, a kitten grown up,
And tea was a liquor you drank from a cup?
When swinger was someone who swung in a swing,
And a pad was a sort of cushiony thing?
When way-out meant something was far, far away,
And a man couldn't sue you for calling him gay?
Words once so sensible, sober and serious
Now make the freakout with Psyche-Deirious.
It's groovy, man, groovy, but English it's not,
Me thinks that the language has sure gone to pot!—AUTHOR UNKNOWN
Note from H: Whoever you are, dear Author Unknown,
Thanks a big bunch for the use of your "pown."
If you'll send in your name, I'll give you a puff,
Meanwhile, don't sue me for using you stuff!—H.
Dear Helen: Recently my boy friend was put in jail for having a gun and breaking his parole. He tried another hold-up.
Should I wait for him? I love him very much and know it would be wrong not to be true, but maybe he'll be gone for a long time. He writes me that he still loves me.
Should I just sit and wait?—U. W.
Dear U: If this fellow loved you, he would have gone straight for your sake. I think he said goodbye when he picked up that gun and broke parole.
Don't waste your life waiting.—H.
Storm's "Eye"
The "eye" of a hurricane is the center of the storm. It varies in diameter from about seven to 20 miles. Whereas the rest of the storm is violent, the eye has little or no wind and sometimes is clear enough so that sunshine or stars can be seen.

The Spanish influence is prevalent in this attractive house with Spanish arches, located at the north side of Cooper Street. J. R. Haning, builder, has arranged this compact three-bedroom, one and one-half baths home to fit the needs of a growing family. The large family room, complete with wood-burning fireplace, has embossed inlaid vinyl floors, on into the kitchen area. Bedrooms are carpeted in 501 DuPont carpeting, and a Luxaire electric furnace and air conditioning control year-round temperature. Fiber glass tubs and showers are used, and kitchen and bathroom cabinets are custom-built of selected hardwood. The living area covers 1488 sq ft; garage storage area 44 sq ft; garage 484 sq ft; and porch 256 sq ft. The house faces south.

In a Gold Medallion Home

Enjoy full housepower

What in the world is Housepower? Housepower is a descriptive term coined by the electric industry to describe the status of a home's wiring system. Low Housepower means a home with insufficient, outdated wiring and

Full Housepower (you guessed it!)—a modern electrical wiring system which provides plenty of power and reserve power for today's extensive electrical needs. Look at it this way.—If houses wore hats, Low Housepower homes would be the villains in our electrical conscience, wearing shabby, black caps, while Full Housepower homes, as good fellows, would be appropriately garbed in sparkling clean, white hats. Fortunately, you don't have to look for such ridiculous signs to see if a home has Full Housepower. Just look for homes wearing the Gold Medallion Home emblem. Not as obvious as a hat might be, the emblem can usually be spotted near the front entrance, incorporated into a door-bell push-button, a door knocker, an illuminated house number, or simply a 3-inch gold disc. The Gold Medallion Home emblem is the home buyers assurance that homes bearing this identity have Full Housepower—plus. Home wiring is THE key factor dictating the extent to which a family can enjoy modern electrical conveniences. Skimp on the wiring and use of appliances and all electrical conveniences are affected proportionately.

TEXAS POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

a tax-paying, investor-owned electric utility

The large area of storage, kitchen, family room, bath and bedroom extending the entire east side of this home at 215 SE 25th Street, give an appearance of much space and comfort. C.E. Rainey, builder, has added the little touches that make a house a home, with ceramic tile in the entrance foyer, and carpeting in the bedrooms and formal living room. Custom built cabinets in the kitchen, and several large closets provide storage room for everything. General Electric provides the air conditioning and electric furnace, and the all-electric kitchen. The living area of this house covers 1338 sq ft, with garage and storage 462 sq ft; patio 120 sq ft, and porch 65 sq ft.

In the age of Aquarius

Keep your cool electrically

We're in the age of Aquarius according to one popular song; an age of plenty, an age in which so many comforts are automatically expected, rather than dreamed of. In the bitter cold of winter we are only a flip of a switch away from cozy heat. And in the heat of summer, air conditioning provides cool comfort.

Dreamers of past ages, plagued by muggy summer weather, devised all sorts of systems in a frantic search for relief. In 1500, Leonardo da Vinci built a water-driven fan to cool the bedroom of his patron's wife. In 17th Century England, Sir Christopher Wren developed a gravity exhaust ventilating system to cool the Houses of Parliament. Fans blew air over buckets of ice in the late 18th Century hospitals. In railroading's early attempts at cooling travelers, ductwork around railroad cars scooped in air while moving and passed it through a water tank before releasing it into the cars.

Our modern Age of Aquarius makes all these early efforts at air conditioning sound unbelievable. Today, without even the flick of a switch, an efficient, flameless central electric air conditioning system sends cool relief through the home and automatically maintains a preset temperature.

It's not just the cooling capability of central air conditioning that has made it a "must" for modern living. It's healthier, too, according to the Edison Electric Institute. Modern, flameless central electric air conditioning systems filter out pollens and dust from the air. This provides particular relief to allergy sufferers. The cool air circulating throughout the home makes work or play less strenuous and improves everyone's disposition. Central electric air conditioning permits you to sleep more comfortably and soundly, which is so important to good health.

Years ago, fans and buckets of ice were the best the inventors could muster in their battle against the hot weather. But, in this Age of Aquarius, the problem is no longer with us. We can face the hot summers with the comfort of knowing that central electric air conditioning is creating the healthiest climate possible for us, and doing this automatically.

Interchange
Route to I-30
Agreed Upon

Yesterday's edition produced a happier frame of mind for most Hope citizens, we imagine, with the announcement that agreement had been reached between the City of Hope and the State Highway Department on the route of the interchange system which will link Highways 4, 29, and 67 with Interstate 30. The final workout was a victory for those who, like your editor, felt the access route should avoid the congested central city and provide a relatively high-speed road through a sparsely-settled section. The access road could go east or west of the central city but not directly through the downtown area, was our position — and after due consultation and passage of time the decision was published yesterday to go through the eastern edge of Hope.

I had a personal run-in with young highway engineers at two public meetings here over early proposals to bring merged 29-4 up from the south through main residential areas. Larger cities, I noted, had been given expressways of a bypass nature. The young engineers insisted Hope had to be served by direct access from downtown, arguing it was public policy to make the distance from town to Interstate 30 as short as possible.

This was ridiculous, of course. Interstate 30 is already virtually on the north corporation line — compared to several miles out of town for Prescott, Gardon, and Arkadelphia — therefore a modified bypass route was feasible here.

Engineering arguments are frequently nothing but a rationalization of the money power behind the project. This was such a case. Young highway department engineers were overly-conscious of the federal financial power supporting them in the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads — therefore imagined what they told local citizens at a public meeting was the last and indisputable word.

But it wasn't. Hope outwaited 'em — and won.

The Star's position was simply this: At a time that the government is spending billions to build main-line bypasses around cities it should be stopped cold when it tries to run a connecting road through a built-up urban area.

Ozan Student Shot to Death at Henderson

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)

—George E. Watson, 20, of Ozan (Hempstead County) was shot and killed about 9:30 p.m. Thursday in front of the Day Armory on the campus of Henderson State College, police said.

Prosecutor W. H. Arnold of Arkadelphia said a charge of first-degree murder was filed today against Rufus Jones, 21, of Arkadelphia in connection with the shooting.

Jones was not a student at Henderson but Watson was.

Arnold said Watson was shot four times in the head with a .22-caliber rifle. He said Jones was arrested today near his apartment.

Jones will be arraigned at 9 a.m. Monday in Clark County Circuit Court. He is being held without bond.

Electoral Reform Bill Advanced

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment allowing the people to elect presidents directly faces a rugged final round in the Senate after a sharply fought committee triumph.

The Senate Judiciary Committee cleared the plan by an 11-6 margin Thursday, but a series of closely fought preliminary votes on rival proposals disclosed the divisiveness of the issue.

The direct vote amendment, approved by the House last September 339 to 70, needs a two-third vote of approval in the Senate to place it before state legislatures for possible ratification. Three-fourths approval by the states is required.

In event of an electoral deadlock now, the president is chosen by the House with each state delegation having one vote.

The direct election amendment would have to be ratified by April 15 of next year for it to apply to the 1972 presidential election, the only difference from the House-approved amendment.

The House provided that the ratification process would have to be completed by Jan. 21 of next year if it is to apply to the next presidential election.

State Firm Named in Indictment

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The federal Grand Jury for the Eastern District of Arkansas returned an indictment Thursday in a case involving the production of parts for the controversial F-111 airplane.

Robert L. Shultz Jr. of Little Rock, the jury foreman, said the indictment involved parts produced for the F-111 by the Selb Manufacturing Co. of Walnut Ridge.

U.S. Atty. W. H. Dillahunty said the indictment would not be made public until the defendants had been arrested. The Grand Jury heard 38 witnesses in the case since Monday.

Selb made parts for the F-111 under purchase orders issued by General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., the prime contractor. General Dynamics canceled the purchase orders last June 30.

The Grand Jury heard seven witnesses in a case involving the Union National Bank of Little Rock, but did not return any indictments. Shultz indicated that the Grand Jury had asked the U.S. attorney's office to continue investigating the case.

Some of the Things That Can Pollute the Temper of Most Men

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Man himself is his own best environment. And his worst one, too.

What are the things in life that annoy a fellow man? Well, here are a few that pollute his temper:

Going on a blind date and finding out that the girl is not only lovely, clever, rich, intelligent and a joy to be with — but also already engaged to some guy back home.

Being awakened five times in a row shortly after 3 a.m. by someone who can't be convinced he's calling the wrong number.

Breaking a shoelace on the one day in months that he's already late to work.

Asking someone "What's new?" — and then being given a five-page answer.

Being offered a drink on the house the very moment he has to run to catch his commuter train.

Having his lapels pulled by a fellow telling him a Jewish, Italian, or Polish joke with a Swedish accent.

Losing to a woman by 47 votes after being asked to run for the presidency of his local P.T.A.

Going fishing with an expensive rod and reel and being skunked by a boy with a stick, a piece of string and one lousy worm.

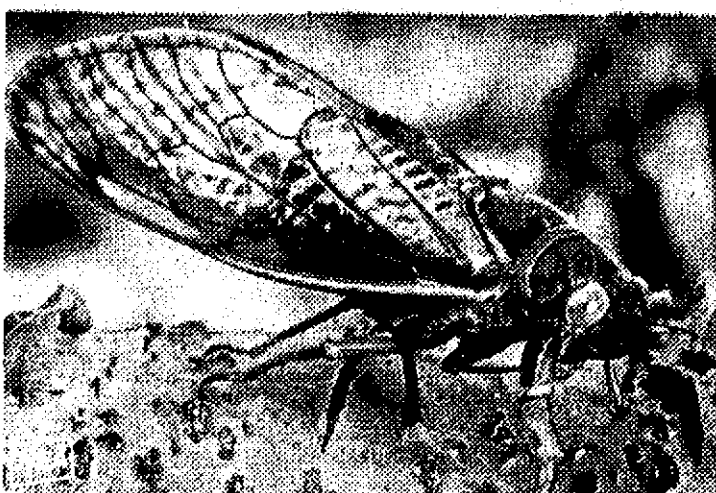

Listening at a Rotary Club meeting to a fellow give word for word the same speech he gave to the same audience two years before.

Explaining a bounced check, losing an argument with his wife in front of witnesses.

Arriving at a cocktail party exactly half an hour-plus one week-after it was supposed to begin.

Watching a 12-year-old child finish in 15 minutes a newspaper.

THIS IS THE YEAR of the 17-year locust. This spring, billions of the large insects, which actually are cicadas, will crawl out of the ground, responding to a biological clock that ticks off one of the insect world's longest and strangest life cycles. These photos show an adult cicada molting its old skin, top, and after the process, bottom. Larvae will dig into the ground to begin 17 years of tunneling, hibernating and growth, emerging again in 1987.

"Genetic Engineering" Study May Conquer Inherited Disorders

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Scientists are studying daring concepts involving "genetic engineering" as part of their quest to conquer such inherited disorders as cystic fibrosis and some of the maladies that can cause mental retardation.

Conceding their ideas "approach science fiction," researchers attending an unusual conference here this month said developments like these are conceivable some time in the future.

A scientist in a hospital laboratory would "feed a certain synthetic chemical to a virus that is relatively harmless to man.

Then he would implant the virus inside the womb of a pregnant woman in such a way that the virus ultimately would reach the developing embryo. It would then release inside fetal cells its chemical cargo consisting of man-made genes — artificial versions of the basic units of heredity which researchers are now trying to develop.

In this case, the virus would in effect be an emergency messenger boy carrying a gene which pre-natal analysis shows is missing or defective in the unborn child — an abnormality that otherwise would result in the child being born with cystic fibrosis, a dreaded glandular disease.

Using another technique, surgeons would implant tiny glass beads in the womb of a pregnant woman. The hollow beads would be filled with an enzyme — a chemical trigger for a vital process — that is known to be missing from the developing embryo.

Through a tiny opening in the beads, the enzyme would slowly be released into the circulation of the embryo — and thereby prevent the child from being born with a hereditary metabolic disease known as phenylketonuria — or "PKU" for short. Unless detected and treatment begun soon after birth, PKU can lead to mental retardation.

These two conceptual techniques — the messenger boy viruses and the enzyme-releasing glass beads — were described by Dr. John H. Menkes of the University of California Medical Center, Los Angeles, at a special symposium on "Clinical Aspects of Inherited Disorders" at the University of Alabama Medical Center.

He said the ideas "approach science fiction," but added that researchers already are giving them serious thought.

Menkes indicated that when See "GENETIC" (on page two)

Man Fires Gun Into Pickup at Fulton

Two local youths, Bobby Barham and Mike Jones, narrowly escaped serious injury last night when the cab of a pickup truck they were driving was racked with pellets from a .410 gauge shotgun on a road alongside Red River south of Fulton.

The boys had tried some frog legging in Mud Lake and decided to go over to the river. It was too high and muddy and returning they saw a parked car and a man with a gun standing beside it. As they approached the man yelled and cut loose with the gun.

They just kept going and stopped at Red River Truck Stop and reported the incident. The man with the gun followed and pulled in at the truck stop. He told them his name was Plintil Hicronymus and he had just been robbed of between $300 to $550. He told them he operated a liquor store in Texarkana. He told the boys he thought they might have been the ones who robbed him, although the youths' pickup was pulling a boat on a trailer.

The youths said he had a shotgun, two rifles and two pistols in his possession. The Fulton constable was present at the truck stop but took no action, the boys reported. Sheriff Jimmie Griffin is investigating.

Hickel Okays Oil Pipeline in Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) —

Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel, told a joint session of the Alaska legislature today construction of a trans-Alaska oil pipeline will not damage the environment.

"The construction authorizations will be given only after a thorough engineering and design analysis," Hickel said in a speech prepared for delivery today. "And I can guarantee that we will not approve any design based on the old and faulty concept of 'Build now, Repair later.'"

Conservationists who heard Hickel's announcement approving the pipeline's right of way Thursday were openly skeptical that the Interior Department had resolved questions about possible damage to the land and wildlife.

But Hickel, a former governor of Alaska, told legislators "our detailed examination of the pipeline specifications will continue to include review — by our wildlife experts — to insure that migratory patterns, such as those of the caribou are not seriously disturbed."

The oil pipeline will stretch 800 miles across the arctic Alaskan tundra. The right-of-way permit is for construction of an access road along 390 miles of the line from the Yukon River to Prudhoe Bay. The entire line will connect the oil rich North Slope on Prudhoe Bay to Valdez.

Hickel repeated his plan to issue the permit once the involved parties reach agreement and all legal requirements are met. But he made no reference to a recent federal court order barring the permit until conservation groups can air their complaints against it.

Conservationists are fearful the road and pipe will serve as an unnatural barrier to wandering wildlife, cutting off their migratory patterns.

High Winds Take a Toll in Arkansas

High winds took their toll Thursday night in Arkansas, as the U. S. Weather Bureau issued a severe thunderstorm warning for most of the state. Five members of a family were injured early this morning at Oak Grove, near Paragould, as high winds destroyed their house trailer.

The winds also caused about $1,000 damage to the roof of the Oak Grove High School and destroyed a barn and a storage shed in the area.

The weather bureau said today that there were reports of trees down at Stillwell, north of Clarksville and marble-sized hail at Greenbrier, Hughes and Wynne.

The weather bureau said the thunderstorms began forming over northwest Arkansas Thursday night but did not pick up a good southeast movement until shortly after midnight. Fair and cooler weather is in the forecast for Saturday.

Nixon's Plan to Abolish the Draft Is Drawing a Cold Reception

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plan to abolish the draft has drawn a cold reception from key members of Congress, and prospects for early clearance of his proposal to abolish college deferments are in doubt.

Although the college exemption plan set forth by the President Thursday was promised an early hearing in the Senate, House Armed Services Committee Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said he planned no action on draft reform this year, only a review.

Nixon asked the authority to end educational exemptions in a message to Congress and announced he was abolishing on his own future occupational, agricultural and parental deferments. Only the student deferments require congressional approval.

At the same time Nixon announced a plan to begin phasing out the draft in July 1971, when the draft law expires and shift to an all-volunteer army.

John R. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he does not think an end to the draft "is in the realm of reality for several years to come" even after the end of the Vietnam war.

"We should just forget the idea that the draft could be eliminated or suspended until that war is well over," Stennis said.

The draft will be needed after that, he said, to prevent shortages for particular leadership and special skill slots.

Rivers said abolishing the draft might be an ideal and a goal to work for but "I can't see any way to do it now."

Under current regulations, 1.8 million students hold deferments, workers with agricultural exemptions total 23,000 and about 4 million men are deferred because of dependents, although not all of them because they are fathers.

Other deferments have been issued to school teachers, critical defense employees and police and firemen.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House draft subcommittee said any action in Congress this election year would "invite disaster" by opening a Pandora's box of wholesale, political draft overhaul.

Three Fined for Assault on Warden

In Hempstead Circuit Court yesterday three McCaskill area men were found guilty of assaulting a game warden and fined. Tom Hill, Eli Hill and George Hill all charged on two counts of assault were found not guilty of assaulting Warden Ben Walker. However, they were found guilty of assaulting Warden Abe Morrison. Tom and George Hill were fined $1,000 each and Eli Hill $750.

The incident occurred earlier this year when the Wardens caught the trio allegedly hunting deer at night in the Little Missouri River bottoms near McCaskill. In a scuffle with that followed Warden Morrison shot George Hill in the arm.

Earl E. Murphy pleaded guilty to burglary and grand larceny and was given a two year suspended sentence. He admitted to entering the Hope Fish Market earlier this year.

More Vietnam Troops Go to Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese army is putting more artillery and troops along several hundred miles of the Cambodian border in preparation for more armed forays into Cambodia in pursuit of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops, informed Vietnamese sources said today.

"We have gone into Cambodia many times," said one source. "We expect to continue. We are paying more attention to the western side of South Vietnam. We are reinforcing it with more artillery. There are more air strikes along the border. We are reinforcing our outposts."

The buildup is heaviest in South Vietnam's 3rd Corps Tactical Zone, an area of 10,000 square miles sharing 231 miles of border with Cambodia. The border area runs in an arc from 35 miles west of Saigon to 100 miles northeast of the capital.

The sources estimate 40,000 to 50,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are in eastern Cambodia. One source said Cambodian troops had withdrawn from all their outposts along the border because they were "afraid of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese."

This source said there is no official agreement between South Vietnamese and Cambodian authorities for South Vietnamese forces to cross into Cambodia.

"The Cambodians don't approve officially," he said. "They just don't care. They are inert. We just inform them we're going in on 'hot pursuit' and go."

The source said American advisers are not crossing into Cambodia with the South Vietnamese and their refusal "disappointed" him.

He gave no indication, however, that the U.S. Command had tried to discourage the South Vietnamese operations into Cambodia.

The South Vietnamese operations across the border are forcing the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to push deeper into Cambodia and to attack Cambodian hamlets and villages in their path, the source continued.

He said the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong could capture Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital "but I don't think they will because of the political situation. The free world would react too strongly."

Burglars Hit a Downtown Seed Store

Burglars entered Red River Feed & Seed Store in downtown Hope last night and took various items valued at about $175. There was a very little actual cash missing.

The items include tool sets, flashlights, batteries, a charity gun machine and other items. Entrance was gained through the back door.

Sunday night an estimated $6,000 worth of rings and watches were taken from Keith's Jewelry Store, only a half block from the feed firm.

City officers Carl Ward and Richard Rowe are investigating.

New Telephone Directory Is Coming Soon

Mailing of the new 1970 Hope-Bocaw telephone directory begins May 2 and will continue through May 6.

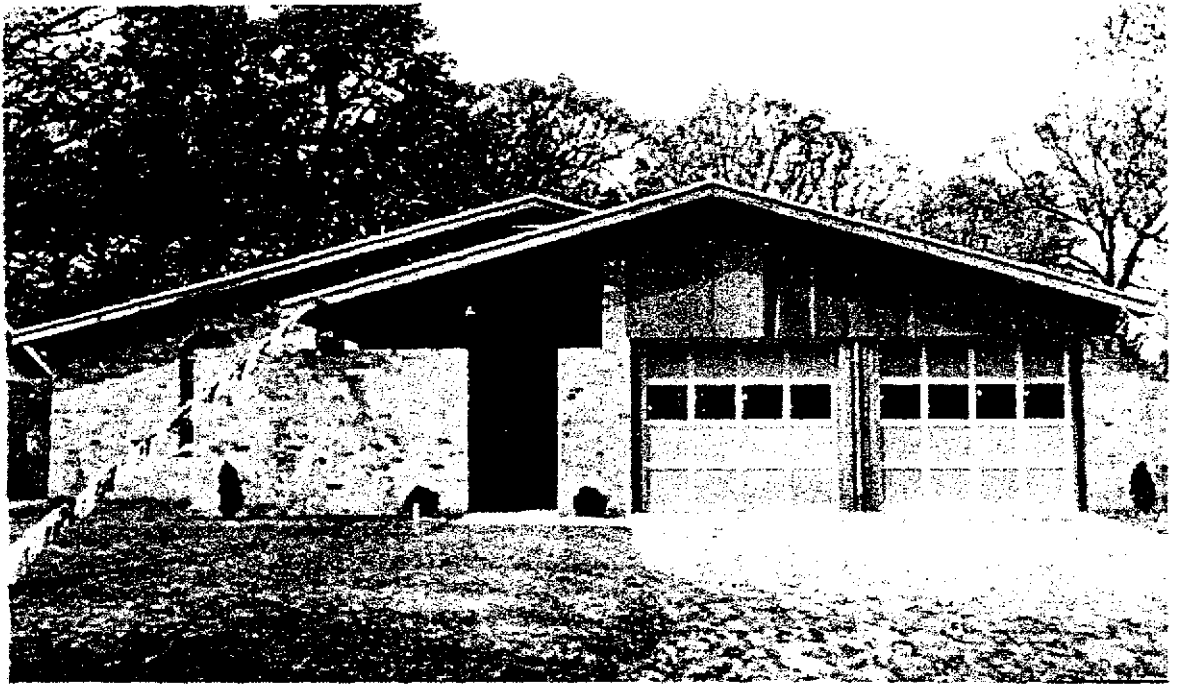

Over 7,000 copies will be distributed, according to Manager Jack Bayles of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

"The new directory has more than 5,100 listings in the white pages," Bayles said. "This is an increase of over 100 listings from last year's book, reflecting growth in the Hope-Bocaw area."

This year's book has 132 pages compared to 123 last year. The cover features color photographs of scenic highway routes in Arkansas.

Bayles urged all customers to destroy their old directories and begin using the new ones as soon as they are received.

Need more hours a day?

Our busy, modern way of life is placing more demands on our time every day. Within the growing family there are time demands for club meetings, business meetings, civic meetings, that exciting new movie in town, the special on television or the Little League playoffs. Our outside activities keep expanding and the time we devote to work must shrink to allow for it.

Our work week outside the home is getting shorter, and that helps. But what about Mom? If she's still scrubbing, rinsing and drying dishes after each meal, three times a day, she's spending at least one solid month of time each year in front of a kitchen sink. That 30 days is a vacation we'd all like to have, and it's within Mom's reach with an automatic electric dishwasher. She could eliminate all the stacking, because she can put the dishes right in the dishwasher. She can forget about pre-rinsing, because her dishwasher will automatically flush off any loose food particles before it tackles the job of washing.

She can stop worrying that her dishwasher is not hot enough to make her dishes hygienically clean, or that it's so hot her hands will look like they've been through a blast furnace afterward. An electric dishwasher requires only the touch of a button to begin its washing in water too hot for any hands.

The rinsing she had to take her dishes through at the sink, the standing in a drain rack and the drying can all be forgotten. Her automatic dishwasher does the job quickly and efficiently, leaving the dishes sparkling clean and ready to put away.

Mom's modern electric dishwasher will take no getting used to, according to the Edison Electric Institute, because it's built to operate easily and automatically. But more than that, Mom will appreciate her dishwasher because it can give her the equivalent of a month's vacation every year.

This discreet electric cooling unit outside provides cool comfort inside this centrally air conditioned home. Electric central air conditioning is now standard equipment in millions of American homes.

Combine hot colors & cool comfort

In thousands of homes the switch is on to bright, modern colors. The drab colors of bygone eras are being replaced by modern blazing reds, shocking pinks and bright oranges. But, the use of such colors poses an unusual problem for home decorators. Psychologists tell us that bright colors can have almost as much effect on our minds and disposition as they have on our sense of sight.

A blazing red room decor, for instance, gives us a warming sensation. It can have the same effect as actually raising the room temperature five, or even ten degrees. This is fine in wintertime, but during the hot summer months, such a room can become a mild form of torture for the inhabitants. The bright color closes in on us, and the room could almost quiver with heat waves. This psychological effect often leaves a modern decorator with the unfavorable choice of either satisfying the desire for good taste in decorating or the desire for personal comfort.

In the case of hot colors and hot summer days, central electric air conditioning has come to the rescue by enabling you to combine the two without sacrificing good taste or comfort. You can decorate a room with the most scorching colors and still feel cool as a cucumber if there is central electric air conditioning to compensate for the psychological rise in temperature.

Of course, the advantages of central electric air conditioning are by no means limited to providing the homeowner with greater decorating freedom. According to the Edison Electric Institute, flameless central electric air conditioning also happens to be one of the best prescriptions for health during the hot summer months. It filters out the irritating pollens and dust in the air that bring on sneezing and coughing spells. It freshens and dehumidifies the muggy summer air and contributes greatly to our physical comfort.

With all of these advantages, it's understandable why central electric air conditioning has become standard operating equipment in millions of the best-decorated and most comfortable homes of today.

B. A. Huddleston drew the plans for this house at 1125 SE 34th, with Denman-Hyde as builders. The entrance foyer opens into the living room on the left and the front bedroom on the right. The large family room and dining area flow into the kitchen, with utility room conveniently near by. Three bedrooms and two complete baths, with each bedroom having two exposures, provide light and comfort to a very livable house. 501 DuPont carpeting is used, and the 50-gallon quick recovery electric water heater gives plenty of hot water for baths, washing, or whatever the need may be. Living area covers 1527 sq ft, with garage, patio, and porch giving even more space to a fine house.

How has the public accepted electric heat?

At the present time, there are over 3.5 million U.S. households enjoying the benefits of electric heating. By 1980, according to Federal Power Commission estimates, there will be at least 19 million homes heated entirely by electricity. This does not include the homes that are partially electrically heated.

How do I decide if I should have a central heating system?

This depends on what you want from a heating system. If you are presently using a furnace, it's a simple matter to replace it with an electric furnace. The new furnace can be coupled at any time to whole-house air conditioning. You can also add an electronic air filter or humidifier to the system.

If you want whole-house air conditioning combined with a heating system in one compact central unit, choose the heat pump.

If you prefer hot water heat, a central electric hydronic heating system gives you all the advantages of hot water heat, with an added space-saving advantage. Water is heated in a small, wall-mounted boiler about the size of an attache case and distributed through pipes to baseboard units. Individual room hydronic units are also available.

When would individual room heat-units be preferable?

Individual units provide the most practical way to heat an added room, wing or basement recreation room. They warm up space rapidly because the heating element is right in the room.

Individual units feature room-by-room temperature control. Most have few or no moving parts to wear out, so the cost of periodic inspections and parts replacement is little or nothing.

What are the advantages of each type of electric heating system?

Resistance baseboard heater: Individual room control; good heat recovery and distribution; easily installed at reasonable cost.

Forced-air heater: Easiest to install of all types of electric heat; relatively low installation cost; rapid warm air distribution; individual room control.

Radiant ceiling cable: Lowest installation cost; even heat; takes up no usable space (it's embedded out of sight in the ceiling); no restriction on furniture arrangement; silent operation; individual room control; draft free.

Electric furnace: Moderate installation cost; gentle air circulation; central air conditioning can be added, using same duct system; humidity control equipment and electronic air filtration may also be added.

Electric heat pump: Same advantages as an electric furnace, plus air conditioning in the same unit; lowest operating cost; year-round automatic temperature control.

Hydronic (hot water) system: Electric boiler is small enough to be mounted on wall or installed in closet—takes no usable space; may be designed for zone temperature control; even heat; creates no draft.

Why does electric heat minimize dust in the house?

In fuel-fired systems, a certain amount of air is needed to support combustion. Inside air used for combustion must be replaced by infiltration of outside air which brings in airborne dust.

Electric heat, having no flame, requires no air supply, so infiltration of outside air is held to minimum. Therefore, houses with electric heat have a minimum of dust. However, some dust particles are suspended in room air in every home. If you want your home to be as dust-free as possible, an electronic air filtering system is recommended.

Is it true that electric heating requires little maintenance?

Most types of electric heating require little, if any, maintenance. The amount of the maintenance will depend on the system chosen and the usage and care it gets.

If a snow or wind storm knocks out power lines, what would happen to my electric heating?

Exactly what would happen to almost any type of heating system—it wouldn't operate. Most automatic heating equipment depends on electric controls and electric fans or pumps. But with an electrically heated home and its additional insulation, you would remain comfortable for a longer period of time, even with the heat off.

How does the cost of installing electric heat compare with others?

Usually, electric heating systems cost less to buy and install than other types, but this will depend on the system selected.

Is an electric heating system expensive to operate?

The myth that heating with electricity will wreck the household budget lives on, despite overwhelming evidence to the contrary. With a properly installed and maintained system and the home insulated to required standards, electric heating can cost less, the same or only a little more than competing systems.

How long does it take to convert to electric heating?

It is impossible to give a precise answer without knowing the extent of the work involved. In most cases, however, installation can be completed in a few days, and the home can be livable during the conversion.
